In the first chapter of Xiao Hong's famous "Life and Death Field", "Wheat Field", the text goes like this: "In the morning, the rain has not fallen. A rainbow hung to the east; Feel the clouds of wet smell pass over your head like red crystals, like red dreams. "But I think the sun and rainbow are looking at each other across the sky, "morning", the sun is in the east, so the color practice should be in the west, so "a rainbow hanging in the east" is impossible. There is an error.

Notice -- a sunrise in the East and a rainbow in the west.

Han Han seven courses light red, but the article is really selling and making money; Li Yang failed 13 subjects, but founded Crazy English; Lang Lang got only average grades, but he had great talent on the piano.

The book "The little Bean by the window", mentioned that a person was born with a special gift in a certain aspect, as long as the efforts in this aspect can achieve extraordinary achievements, but often many people do not find their own specialty in this aspect. Of course, this can be accomplished, Han Han and others found their talent.

He who finds his gift is a lucky man.

Han Han once said, "I am the best driver who writes articles and the best driver who writes articles. "Some people criticized him for this sentence, but that he dared to carry out self-evaluation of himself, his courage is worthy of commendation, now how many celebrities dare praise themselves?"

Some shop signs are often named after the owner's name, but the name is not completely embedded in the Numbers. Such as "Four bean curd", "Pan Six Fried chicken" and so on. "Hu Si" and "Pan Liu" are not necessarily their real names, but they give people a sense of intimacy and people are in a relaxed mood when shopping. And just write the name such as "Zhang Feng steamed stuffed bun", "Wu Bridge flatbread" makes a person disturbed in the heart, this kind of feeling affects the business.

Some advertisements in our life are well written and leave a deep impression on me. The barbershop was named Silk Thought and the slogan was "Start from scratch". The wedding photography shop was named "Love in a Falling City" ("Love in a Falling City" is the name of Zhang Ailing's works); Unlocking under the name of "research lock"; Selling jade named "Stone records"; I was even more impressed by one bakery's slogan: "Keep us coming back on your 100th birthday." You said never!

I went to the square to play with my friends at night and watched teachers teach children to skate. Every now and then one of the children falls down and gets up and keeps sliding.

If they don't choose to skate, there's no such thing as falling, but it's also impossible to master the skill. There is no failure without trying, and there is certainly no success.

There was a kid who made a scene every time he saw me and asked me to buy him a Popsicle, and I indulged him. But once he saw me but did not let me buy, I felt strange, asked him why not let me buy him something to eat, he said: "I do not eat, mother said you can not eat other people's food."

This shows a good family education so that he became sensible, you can see the impact of parents' words and deeds on children.
